

CAPITAL DISTRICT WRITING PROJECT

Invitational Summer Institute, 2012

Application Form

Instructions: Send your application, along with the essay and letter described below in Part II and Part III, by April 7, 2012, via email to cdwp@albany.edu. You may also mail hard copies of your application materials to Robert Yagelski, Capital District Writing Project, Dept. of Educational Theory and Practice, 113A Education Building, University at Albany, Albany, NY, 12222.

Part I

Name _____

Address _____

Home Phone _____ Email Address _____

Current School Affiliation _____

Grade level(s) Currently Teaching _____ Years of Full-time Experience _____

Subject Areas Taught (if applicable) _____

College or University Attended and Date of Graduation _____

Graduate Degree(s) _____

Part II

Please include with this application an essay of approximately 1000 words in which you explain your interest in participating in the Capital District Writing Project. In your essay, draw on your own experiences as a teacher to explain your reasons for applying, and describe the qualities, experience, or background that you would bring to the project as both a teacher and a writer. Feel free to write your essay in a style that you think best expresses your interest in the Writing Project.

In addition to this essay (which is a required part of your application), you may include any other samples of your own writing that you think might convey a sense of who you are as a writer and/or teacher.

Part III

As part of your application, please include a letter of support from a principal, department supervisor, curriculum coordinator, or another colleague in a similar position who can speak to your interests in the Writing Project and your qualities as a teacher, writer, and colleague.

Please note that the tentative dates for the CDWP Invitational Summer Institute are June 25 - July 19, 2012. A required overnight retreat will be held on May 18-19, 2012. More specific information about the institute and related events will be provided later.

Contact us:

Dr. Robert Yagelski ryagelski@albany.edu 518-442-5002

Carol Forman-Pemberton CarolCDWP@aol.com 518-399-7545

Alicia Wein aliciamaud@gmail.com 518-453-0025